Issue no. 95

Hamstead Marshall's quarterly newspaper
since 1996

September 2020

New at the White Hart "Rishi reprise" Weds and Thurs

Stella's Sunak Suppers on Wednesdays throughout August have been a great success, and she is aiming to continue the momentum, albeit without support from the Chancellor, with a series of fixed-price menus for Wednesdays and Thursdays, from 6pm throughout September.

The menu offers a choice of two courses for £15, or three for £20.

Friday night takeaways

Fish and chips, burgers (meat or veggie) available for collection between 5 and 8pm. Order via the website or ring 01488 657545.

Friday night special in the restaurant: Chateau Briand £50 for two. Details from the website.

Opening Hours

Wednesday	Thursday	17:00 - 22:00
Friday	Saturday	12:00 - 23:00
Sunday		12:00 - 18:00

Priest-in-charge to take early retirement

Rev Mark Wilson, who took over the Walbury Beacon Benefice three years ago, is taking early retirement at the end of September. In an open letter on the benefice website he says that he and his wife Deborah will remain in the area, where they are believed to run the Stockcross Post Office.

Replacement of Anglican ministers is never a speedy affair, but with services on St Mary's website scheduled through to the end of the year, it is assumed that other members of the benefice team will be officiating.

Village hall pop-up shop goes fortnightly

Sue Watts and Lanie Allen, who have been running the village hall pop-up shop for eggs and bread weekly since the beginning of lockdown feel the time has come to move to fortnightly. The next opening will be 9.30-11.30 on Thursday 10th September. Continuation through the autumn will depend on villagers' needs.

At present the hall remains closed for all other activities because of the problems of sanitising to government guidelines between each booking.

Community market, Circle of Friends, Bonfire Night and private bookings all remain on hold

Elm Farm: last two lots under offer

Carter Jonas' website is showing the last two lots of the Elm Farm sell-off as under offer. Lot 7, comprising 47 acres either side of the bridle path (pictured), and the cottage, No 3 Elm Farm, (which was not advertised with the original prospectus) were advertised together at £650,000 after the rest of the farmland had been disposed of, but they are thought to be the subject of two separate offers.

Hawthorne Cottage

Hawthorne Cottage, also known as No. 27, at Chapel Corner continues to be advertised by Marc Allen, now at £825,000 rather than the £875,000 that was being sought earlier in the year.

Parish council meeting

The next parish council meeting will take place by Zoom on Thursday 17th September. The agenda will be available on the council website five working days before the meeting, with details on how to join by Zoom.

Mobile library back on the road

The mobile library is back in business, and will be calling at Ash Tree Grove between 10.40 and 11.10 on 24th September, 15th October, 5th and 26th November and 17th December. Order your books here.

Village WhatsApp

The village WhatsApp has gone quieter of late, but continues as a useful forum for getting rid of surplus garden produce, finding lost dogs and cats, recommendations of local tradespeople and suchlike. There are currently 78 participants in Hamstead Marshall and adjoining parishes. If you would like to join contact Sarah Stevenson on 07802 235169.

Pictures from the past

The "Sham Castle" in Hamstead Park, built as a folly in the 1790s when such park ornamentation was fashionable. Marked on old OS maps but is thought to have been taken down during the First World War.

A game of cricket on the Plain before the First World War. The Plain is the field behind the modern Craven House in Park Lane -- note the gatepiers in the background. There was even said to have been a golf course here briefly.
